

5 insights to better represent clients facing drug-related criminal charges

A D&M CONSULTANTS PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SERIES

You're invited to join us for this informative and ground-breaking session.

In 60 minutes you'll hear from two of Brisbane's leading innovative drug treatment specialists who are changing the way solicitors are helping their clients who are facing drug-related charges.

The insights we'll be sharing are...

- Why the current treatment system is failing you and your clients.
- What key issues drive a client's addictive behaviour.
- How a new approach to addiction treatment can break the revolving door of relapse and re-offending.
- Key evidence from addiction treatment research to help you and your client during a hearing/trial process.
- Insights into treatment with an experiential exercise.

Meet the two experts disrupting addiction treatment

Our innovative approach is informed by our lived experience with addiction, crime and recovery....

Dr Ingrid McGuffog, is the Clinical Director and applied criminologist of D&M Consultants. Ingrid has decades long experience working with people involved in the criminal justice system and who have addiction issues.

Amelia De Campo BSW, is the Managing Director and social worker of D&M Consultants. Amelia has over 10 years of experience report writing and working in the family law context.

Special guest - psychologist Peter Jordan from Psychlaw Australia, will discuss how the D&M Reframe Your Life program supports reporting and risk management for the court.

We're looking forward to meeting you and sharing our valuable insights.
